1214.46

raised their voices melodiously and then one man stepped gaily from gondola to gondola collecting money for the performers. It was such a pretty sight. The long line of lights along the shore looked like a beautiful necklace and the lapping of the water and the moon above the church of the Salute made the picture complete.